

Behavioral Health System Baltimore Resource and Support Guide for Older Adults in Baltimore

Introduction

This resource guide is to help older adults in different areas of needs and simplify how they can access and navigate different services in the community. This information is to support older adults during these trying and stressful times. It will help to alleviate the difficulty in finding solutions to our older adults' healthcare needs and services to eliminate some burdens that get in their way of meaningful life.

The guide also presents the opportunity for the older adults and their caregivers to reach out to professionals in different facilities and programs with the goal to ensuring that their medical and other personal needs such as their ADLs (Activities of Daily Living) and IADLs (Instrumental Activities of Daily Living) are met through appropriate referrals.
